The Credit Is Yours

WE HUMBLY THANK everyone who called us or saw us or wrote us congratulating us on The Herald's winning the three top awards of the Georgia Press Association for 1949-1950.

Of course, it all makes us feel wonderful.

But we wish it definitely understood that all the credit does not belong to us.

The major credit belongs to Statesboro and Bulloch county—to its citizens, its churches, its civic organizations, its businessmen, its schools. Just Statesboro and Bulloch county.

We are only the medium through which this community speaks. And if Statesboro and Bulloch county were not the wonderful community it is, and were it not made up of wonderful people who make their home and life here, The Bulloch Herald certainly could not have qualified for the awards given it by the Georgia Press Association convention held in Atlanta last week.

The awards are the best evidence that the citizens of this community are receiving a newspaper it deserves—one of the best in Georgia.

We pledge to continue our efforts to keep it in the high place it has attained.

It is your newspaper, operated only for the best interest and highest objectives for the citizens of this community.

A Spiritual Step Forward Proudly We Hail

ANOTHER STEP in the spiritual progress of Statesboro was made on Sunday of last week when Primitive Baptists from this section and their friends joined in dedicating the new Bible Study building of the Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church.

For some time members of the church and their young people have been gathering in various sections of the church auditorium to hold their Bible Study.

In 1947 the new building was dreamed up and the efforts of the church were concentrated on raising funds to materialize the dream.

On Sunday we saw the Primitive Baptists with a new, modern Bible Study building which takes it place with the best of them.

Statesboro is a better community for its churches and it is to the glory of our God that another phase of our spiritual welfare has been enriched.

It's For Your Own Good

HAVE YOU joined the Chamber of Commerce yet?

Here it is beyond the mid-year, and there are many businessmen in this city who are not members.

We cannot see how these businessmen can conscientiously observe our community's progress and yet remain apart from it while enjoying the benefits.

The Chamber of Commerce is a vital part of a community and is essential to its progress.

It is now launching a greater service than ever before and needs the support of every businessman in the city.

Friday of this week the finance committee will make its final drive for members. When they come to see you, join up. It's for your own good, and the good of the community.

At Least It's Money Wasted

THIS WEEK END a visitor in Screven County had a new automobile damaged and was fortunate in escaping injury himself when he struck one of the Screven County cows which wander aimlessly about our highways.

Not only was he out the money it will take to repair his car, he remained here several hours attempting to locate the owner of the cow so he could pay for that, too.

Frankly, the time has come when it no longer makes sense to say that a cow has more right on a paved highway than the motorist whose tax money built the road in the first place. If people are not going to keep their livestock off the highway, to pay for any damage done to them, they surely should not expect motorists

There are those who might say the motorist was careless in striking the cow. He may have been but chances are, he was not to blame. Anyone not familiar with the mentality of a South Georgia cow would expect one grazing on the side of the highway to stay there, and not deliberately turn right into the path of an oncoming car. People who live here know there can be no dependence paid in a cow, and govern their driving accordingly.

As valuable as livestock is to this country, it just doesn't make sense to let it wander about the highways. Even if the motorist is required to pay for damage done, it is an economic waste which could be avoided.

Verse For This Week—

Though waves and storms go o'er my head,
Though strength and health and friends be gone,
Though joys be withered all, and dead,
Though every comfort be withdrawn,
On this my steadfast soul relies,—
Father! Thy mercy never dies.

"How Soon Will It Get to Us?"

Editor's Uneasy Chair

EDITOR'S NOTE—This week we give our Uneasy Chair to Jack Tarver. Jack's column in Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution proved chuckle-provoking and, being of a nature to share chuckles with our readers, we pass it on. For the most part, it is all true. He was a little wrong about the $15. It was $27 we started with. Which makes our birth seem not quite so labored as he would have you believe on the $15. We here and now thank Jack for his gentle handling of the history of The Herald. We admit the proprietorial interest he has in our paper, we're proud of it. And when Jack's name comes up in conversation 'round here we always claim that what Jack knows about newspapering we caught him during the early morning hours while waiting for the typesetter to dig up C. C.'s basketball copy.

More than 600 citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch County and other sections of Georgia, including many of the state's leading bankers, attended the informal open house at which the bank presented its new quarters.

The occasion focused attention of the entire state on Statesboro, "Where Nature Smiles and Progress Has the Right-of-Way."

So we hail the Sea Island Bank whose vision includes the value of efficient equipment, beauty of exterior and interior, which is not only a matter of individual pride and efficiency, but a great step toward a more modern and progressive Statesboro.

And We Don't Blame 'Em

AN OPERATOR of a South Georgia store had contended that some of his salesgirls had at times placed money in their pockets before putting it in cash registers. Testimony was given before Chief Referee V. E. Adams of the State Labor Department that his salesgirls were all ordered to wear no dresses with pockets to work and were informed that if they did the pockets would be sewn up.

In awarding job insurance to the girls who quit, the referee said, "While an employer may prescribe reasonable rules and regulations, a threat to sew up its female employees' pockets is sufficiently humiliating to constitute a good cause for them to quit working for him."

And we don't blame 'em.

What! No Run On Soda?

A SHORT STORY in Sunday's papers causes us to laugh with glee:

"Housewives have slowed down on 'scarce buying' but their families are faced with eating some of the things Mama bought in large quantities, according to a survey just made by Grocer Graphic, a trade publication, in the New York area."

There's no indication that there was a run on soda, but we hope they all had indigestion.

ALL'S FAIR

How did you like the Open House at the Sea Island Bank? Such lovely office furnishings and folks of high rank. There were bank officials from Savannah to Atlanta. But, cross my heart, not a soul looked like Santa. Beautiful flowers—dahlia, glads, mums, and roses. With Henry Clifton snapping John Moorey in dozens of poses. As Mr. Statesboro, Doc stopped from his car, met the dignitaries from all the towns.

And then shook hands with executives and continued his rounds. There was venerable Dave Turner and courteous Billy Wells, Silver-haired McAllister and a group of young belles. Permitted Charlie Oliff, Alfred Dorman and Hinton Booth, attorney; Kermit Carr and Billy Wells escorted us on our journey.

We were enthralled by soft green walls and floors of muted grey—Oh it was a honey!

Office machinery, really uncanny and a puzzling telephone—All of a sudden it dawned on me—I hadn't seen any MONEY!

FOR Elizabeth Kingery, the Open House almost coincided with the sixteenth anniversary of her connection with the Sea Island Bank. Herbert Kingery wrote in the guest book, "Beautiful, modern—a great improvement over 1913," when Herbert worked there.

When I asked C. B. McAllister for a comment for this column, he came up with this. Like most things in this column, it really happened. Bill Adams said to Mr. Mac: "I'm sorry I can't get to the Open House. I can't get back from the ball game in time. Are you before it was ever named. There were so many things to be done that the front page was completely made up before Leode and his brothers, Jim, who had come down from Atlanta, and G. C. who was playing hockey from high school, sat down to figure out a name to fill the hole which had been blocked in at the top of the page.

They had intended, no one story goes, to call it The Statesboro Sentinel or Star but there weren't enough capital S's in the type they wanted to use and so they compromised on The Bulloch Herald.

At any rate, the first issue, which was scheduled for a Thursday, finally got out the following Monday. Fortunately, no one suggested the need for a slogan. If so, it would almost inevitably have had to be "Better Late Than Never."

COPY-HIDER
The linotype operator we had on The Advance at the time could set a galley of 8-point or kill a pint of whisky faster than anybody I've ever seen. He preferred to do the latter.

Leode made his kid brother, G. C., the Herald Sports Editor and he wrote up every basketball game in the county, pages and pages of reports of round-robin tournaments involving Brooklet, Portia, Register, Sifton, Cito and a dozen less well-known communities. This would have driven the linotype operator in question to drink but for the fact that he was already on the premises to begin with. And so he took, in his alcoholic desperation, to hiding G. C.'s copy.

Like a squirrel frenziedly putting away acorns against the coming Winter, he secreted G. C.'s "breakdown" of the county's small houses and some big houses. As a whole, they aren't an envious people. They like America, these Americans do. They'll fight to preserve it's way of life and our intentions to improve it. We'll suffer, yes, but suffering will give us beauty of the spirit. If we're made of the right stuff, let us begin to pray as others have prayed—not that God will be on our side, but that we will be on God's side.

We can remember, in the days to come, too, what one minister said: "Courage is just as common as fear."

At first one is enveloped in pessimism. We have been asleep too long. Even if we win this war what good can come of a terrible conflict? America will be reduced to poverty. Generations will be born in North Carolina after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jones.

Mrs. Eugene Bule is spending her vacation visiting relatives in Tennessee, Michigan, and other places. Mrs. S. J. Foss entertained a number of young folk last week with a picnic at Magnolia Springs honoring her daughter, Fay, on her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Zetterower and Lehmone Zetterower were visitors in Savannah during the week. For, yes, but suffering will give us beauty of the spirit. If we're made of the right stuff, let us begin to pray as others have prayed—not that God will be on our side, but that we will be on God's side.

We can remember, in the days to come, too, what one minister said: "Courage is just as common as fear."

Second Just Over; Third Coming Up?

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

THIS DOOR BELL RANG and when the door was opened, the light revealed two young men in officers' uniforms. Immediately, the school teacher at our house recognized a former student from the class of 1939. The other officer was introduced. Soon a pot of coffee had been brewed and a full session was in full swing over coffee cups.

These young men in their early thirties were at Camp Stewart for two weeks' training. They are officers in the active reserve. They were very anxious to talk about their families, homes, and work.

Each was married, had three children and each was buying a home. One was considering adding a room to his home since it was bought when the school was new.

Each had a garden even though they were living in a city. Each liked his work. Life was just pretty good for these boys. It was downright cruel to bring it up—the war! Oh, they didn't want to think about it. They had hardly settled themselves since their return from the other war, one from the European theatre, the other from the Pacific theatre. Of course, it looked like it was inevitable and they were ready to do their duty when it became necessary.

As we sat talking I remembered another young man from out of town who had enlisted in the same manner only a few days before in the same living room. I remembered a young boy who had enlisted before he was eighteen and had spent three years of his early manhood in the Pacific, finally reaching Japan. He had just finished college and is ready now to begin work, not another war. He'd like to get married.

Then our Statesboro boys came to mind. The different ones brought about the same picture. Life is good here, who wants to leave it now? Knowing that the young manhood of all classes from every section of these United States feels like these boys, we wonder how Mr. Malik of Russia can call us warmongers.

Miss Iris Gabriel, who spoke at the Statesboro Church, told how the different Europeans asked when we were going to drop the atom bomb. This was no shock since we had heard the broadcasts, tune in and hear what Russia is broadcasting to the world about the American people. You won't recognize us. Mr. Malik and his comrades have spread vicious propaganda. They are continuing to spread it, using every possible incident, misquoting and distorting, as they tell the world about Americans.

Change Made In Welfare Checks

Miss Sara Hall, of the Bulloch County Department of Public Welfare, announces this week that public assistance checks will be mailed from Atlanta on the 22nd of each month instead of the 15th, as was the procedure in the past.

She stated that the checks are of a new form and will be of new stiff paper which is not to be folded before presentation for payment.

Local stores and banks have been accustomed to cashing the checks for recipients and have come to expect them shortly after the 15th of each month.

She asks the patience and indulgence of those who are accustomed to receiving the checks and handling them at the mid-month. She also asks that recipients observe the notices which accompany the new form of check.

J. S. (Buddy) Pelote, 77, victim of a hit-and-run driver last Saturday, died in the hospital here on Monday.

Mr. Pelote, lifelong resident of Bulloch county, was struck by a car at the intersection of Zetter-ower avenue and Northside drive (U. S. 80) about 10:45 a. m. Saturday, according to Sheriff Stothard.

The driver of the car did not stop and officers began chase. A rider in the car was first apprehended and later the driver of the car, John Howard, was arrested at his home near Brooklet.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Pelote Tuesday afternoon at Bethlehem Church with Elder J. B. Jarell officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER GIVEN FOR RECENT BRIDE

Miss Alva Mae Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Martin, whose marriage to Charles Valentine, of Jacksonville, Fla., was an event of Sunday afternoon, was the inspiration of a miscellaneous shower given by Misses Elaine West and Betty Lovett at the Lovett home on South Main street.

A light green, upturned umbrella, filled with the colorful packages, was part of the decorations. Summer flowers were used in other places.

In clever games, Miss Betty Jean Mikell won stationery, and note paper was awarded Miss Nell Bowen.

Guests were served tuna fish salad, pickles, olives, crackers, creamed cheese sandwiches in heart shapes, green cupcake squares and iced tea.

Guests included Miss Alva Mae Martin, Mrs. Jack Brannen, Nevils; Mrs. Ray Hodges, Nevils; Miss Nell Bowen, Miss Betty Mitchell, Miss Betty Lightfoot, Miss Betty Jean Mikell, and Mrs. L. A. Martin.

Mr. Kea is employed at Womack's Grocery. Mrs. Donaldson will continue as secretary for the Soror Insurance Agency. They have an apartment at 125 North Main street.

MISS JOANN PETERSON, JR.
WOMAN AT DINNER
Miss Joann Peterson, of Alley, and her fiancé, Walter Floyd Jr., were honor guests at 6 o'clock dinner Monday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Averitt as hosts at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Averitt.

The table, set for twelve, was centered with an exquisite arrangement of white gladioli and white dahlias in a silver bowl. Wide square bows, placed flat, on each side of the centerpiece, were entwined with miniature bouquets, and placed in this nest of delicate flowers were silver sequent candelabra with white tapers. Down the banquet table white satin streamers with dainty sprays of fern and amaranthus were mums extended in V-shape. In the space between the ribbons at each end were lovely white doves.

Youth Parade To Begin Youth Revival Here

CHURCH NEWS

Saturday afternoon, August 26, a giant Youth Parade will form at Statesboro's First Baptist Church at 5 o'clock.

Rev. George Lovell, pastor, says, "Youth, arise! Demonstrate your faith in the Christian religion. Join in this crusade against godless communism."

Rev. Lovell states that all youth are invited to take part in this parade regardless of denomination. "We want this to be a united Christian effort to revive our faith and strengthen our determination," he said.

Youth Rally at the church on Saturday night at 8 o'clock. School hours will be 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., except for the first month and the last month of the 1950-51 school year.

Mr. Sherman stated that this is for the benefit of rural school children who are needed on the farms.

The superintendent urged parents of children entering school for the first time to bring the child's birth certificate and certification from the health department that immunization for diphtheria, typhoid and smallpox have been given. This is a ruling of the county health department and the board of education. Those who do not have birth certificates may secure them from the Department of Vital Statistics, State Capitol, Atlanta, Mr. Sherman said. He stressed the absolute necessity of having these two certificates when parents enter their child for the first year.

No child will be admitted to school in the first grade whose sixth birthday is later than November 30, 1950.

Superintendent Sherman stated that the schedule in this section which have added the twelfth grade, the one here is probably the only one to have a full graduating class. Because of transfers and those who have come here from other schools and one or two who have elected to be with this group, there will be 12 or 13 graduates with full ceremonies next spring.

Last year as work progressed the new annex to the high school building the school did not operate a lunchroom. This year, Mr. Sherman said, the lunchroom will be one of the best in this section. "We hope to have it operating the first week of school," he added.

Work is now in progress putting in new steel windows on the west end of the building on all three floors. New venetian blinds have been installed in all classrooms and all the halls and rooms in the old section of the building have been newly painted.
